OUR WASHINGTON LEITER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18, 1878. Conservative Republicans and many who have aff-oted to despise the "bloody shirt," so called, have had reason to give some serious thought to the Southern question, by recent events in South Carolina. In fact, the question begins to assume something of its old importance. When the whole truth is out it will appear that the acts of violence and threats of bull dozing there are not the reexcitement in one or two localities. but of the sober, deliberate purpose of the Democratic party under Hampton to force the Republicans into an obedient minority. In proof of this. it is only necessary to quote the Charleston News, which is considered the conservative HAMPTON ORGAN Of the State. Remarking on the outrages practiced upon Mr. Swails, and his notification to leave the State, that paper says: "There is no denial to him or anybody else, of the right of free speech. The Radicals are invited to speak at Democratic meetings, and Democrate invite themselves to speak at Radical meetings They give and get a fair hearing. Swails, however, wants to be a mar tyr, while his continued existence is proof enough to the desire of the people of Williamsburg to avoid extreme measures." The rebel idea of free speech is well illustrated in the cool remark that "the Democrate invite themselves to speak at Radical meetings, but it would have been closer to the truth if it had said that the refusal to grant this "invitation" would be sure death to the Radicals There can no longer be any question that the deliberate purpose of the Hampton Democrats is to carry South Carolina by the shot gun policy, and inder recent legislation and the con-

NASH-In Reno, Oct. 22, 1878, to the wife of Bluffs Nonpareil,

THE mania for "failing in business" (as it is called,) is one of the most disgraceful features of American trade; and has done more to cast auspicion and reproach upon our com mercial honor than all other misfortages and tricks combined. The late bankrupt law favored this sort of rescality, and was a legal shield for dishonest tra teamen throughout the country. From investigations made by a Boston commercial agency it has been discovered that more than one-half of the parties who "failed" Eave a combined circulation larger than that of sult merely of momentary political last year in New England, were men of extravagant habits, who indulged themselves and families in expensive living; many of whom kept fine horses and carriages; spent the sultry season at rea shore or mountain resorts; and who seemed to care little about personal or household economy. Developments also show that a large number of bankropt merchants managed to have a fine residence in their wives' names, while others were thoughtful financiers, and had entrusted their relatives with Government bonds-purchased before their "unfortunate failures." Such is commercial bonor!
